WHAT YOUR NMAT SCORES MEAN

The National Medical Admission Test, or NMAT, is designed to measure abilities which are deemed useful for selection purposes in Philippine medical schools. The NMAT is a two-parttest: Part 1 consists offourmental ability tests and Part 2, offour academic proficiency tests. These are considered indicators of subsequent performance in medical schools.

The NMAT yields the following set of scores: (1) Part 1 subtest scores and a composite score called APT, (2) Part 2 subtest scores and a composite score called SA, and (3) a full composite score derived from the eight subtests called the General Performance Score (GPS).

Your score on each of the eight subtests is expressed as a standard score (SS). The SS has a range of 200–800, a mean of 500, and a standard deviation of 100.

Your NMAT GPS is reported with a corresponding percentile rank (PR) that ranges from 1- to 99+, with a midpoint of 50. Your PR indicates the percentage of NMAT examinees who has NMAT scores the same as or lower than yours.

Your PR will be evaluated against the PR cutoff prescribed by the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) or by the medical school. This PR cutoff is the minimum score that qualifies you as a bona fide applicant for admission into your preferred medical school.
